Subject: Issue 304
From: Van Snyder

1 Introduction

In issue 304, the editor notes that the term "name" is used inappropriately. In many cases it should be "entity" or "object". This paper at least corrects the situation for "associate names" (which now become "associate entities"). In the bigger picture, essentially all "construct entities" are "construct objects", and perhaps ought to be referred to as such.
