Subject: Issue 262
From: Van Snyder

1 Introduction

The editor notes that the usage of the term intrinsic is contradictory.

2 Edits

Edits refer to 00-007r1. Page and line numbers are displayed in the margin. Absent other instructions, a page and line number or line number range implies all of the indicated text is to be replaced by immediately following text, while a page and line number followed by + indicates that immediately following text is to be inserted after the indicated line. Remarks for the editor are noted in the margin, or appear between [and] in the text.

[Editor: after "intrinsic" insert "has two meanings. The first".] 19:34

[Editor: At the end of the paragraph, insert "The second use of the qualifier applies to procedures that are provided by a processor but whose names are not defined by this standard (13.13, 13.14, 13.15), or modules that are provided by a processor but whose names are not defined by this standard (13.17, 15, 16.1). Such procedures and modules are called nonstandard intrinsic procedures and nonstandard intrinsic modules, respectively." Editor: Should nonstandard intrinsic procedures and nonstandard intrinsic modules be set in bold face type? If so, are they required to have index and glossary entries?] 19:37

[Editor: Delete issue 262.] 20:1-7