

Subject: The term “type-compatible” shouldn’t be hyphenated
 From: Van Snyder

1 The term “type-compatible” is used in Sections 5, 6, 7 and 12, and defined in the glossary. It 2 is never used as an adjective, and should therefore not be hyphenated.

4 Edits refer to 02-007. Page and line numbers are displayed in the margin. Absent other 5 instructions, a page and line number or line number range implies all of the indicated text is to 6 be replaced by associated text, while a page and line number followed by + (-) indicates that 7 associated text is to be inserted after (before) the indicated line. Remarks are noted in the 8 margin, or appear between [and] in the text.
